Legislator Has Own Public Opinion Poll

By CHARLES E. CHAPEL

Assemblyman, 46th District

It is very difficult to learn what the people want from their elective representatives in the National Congress, the California State Legislature, the County Board of Supervisors, the City Council, or the School Board.

Ted Gallup, who originated what is probably the most reliable and popular of all systems for sampling the opinions of the people, was a student at the State University of Iowa when I was there. Although Ted is intelligent, industrious, and honest, his "Gallup Poll," and all similar organizations for attempting to learn the hopes and desires of the people, are subject to error because they only take samples from a small percentage of the people.

I HAVE NO organized system for sampling the opinions of the ladies and gentlemen of the 46th Assembly District, whom I have served as faithfully as I know how for nearly 12 fast fleeting years, but I do read the letters and postal cards they send me; I remember what they tell me on the telephone; and I usually recollect what they say on the streets. Therefore, although this may not be an entirely reliable system for gathering information, it is the only one I have, and far better for me than any so-called sampling system done for money.

Last week I discussed the fifteen subjects which seem to me to be the most important to people in the 46th Assembly District, based upon my own "system" described above. This week I shall discuss that most horrible of all subjects—WAR!

ABOUT 10 per cent of the people I know believe that an atomic (nuclear) war will take place within the next five years. About 80 per cent are convinced that an atomic (nuclear) war will NOT take place within the next five years. About 10 per cent have no opinion or do not want to express an opinion on the subject.

About 50 per cent of the people believe that one or more wars, large or small, will take place within the next five years, without the all-out use of the major atomic (nuclear) bombs, and these people believe that the United States will be involved directly or indirectly, in one or more of the wars within the next five years. By "wars," they mean everything from what the United States Marine Corps and the Navy call a "landing party" to a big war.

THEY BELIEVE these wars, large and small, may occur anywhere in the world where the Russian communists and their allies want to start trouble. Most people who think this way mention Europe, Asia, and North Africa in that order. About 40 per cent of the people are convinced that the so-called "limited warfare without major nuclear bombs" will NOT take place. About 5 per cent have no opinion or will not tell me what they think. About 80 per cent of the people believe that the President of the United States of America and the National Congress must take a strong stand against the enemies of the United States, foreign and domestic, even though it is known in advance that taking a strong stand may mean the involvement of the United States in another world war or a series of so-called "small wars," which the Navy and Marine Corps call "expeditions." About 10 per cent are violently against the President and the Congress taking any firm stand that might bring on a war. About 10 per cent have no opinion or will not tell me what they think on this particular issue.

IT MAY COME as a shock to the readers of this column, but about 92 per cent of the letters and postal cards I receive are from women, and only about 8 per cent from men. It also may surprise even women to know that approximately 98 per cent of the letters I receive from women are logical, objective, and lacking in any emotional approach.

This confirms what I have always suspected since early boyhood, namely: A woman's brains work just as well as a man's if she wants to use her brains. It is obvious that they are writing to me from their heads and not from their hearts, although I do not overlook the apparent fact that their hearts must be heavy even when they are doing their best to write unemotional letters and postal cards to me.

THE ONE MOST impressive reaction I get from the letters and postal cards from women is that they take a more positive, direct stand on the subject of the United States asserting its national rights and ideals, even though this may mean either a major war or a series of "small wars."

This brings me to the military (and naval) position of "attention" because the heaviest burden of any war, small or large, falls upon females. They must hide their tears while they see their fathers, husbands, brothers, sons, nephews, and boy friends leave them to risk death in far-off, foreign lands, "for God and for our Republic, which we are all proud to serve."

May God almighty, the Creator of the Universe protect us from the necessity of going to war, but if we must fight, then let us fight bravely and proudly for the liberties we have and the rights we must maintain.

Apache Indians Entertain Club

Two full-blooded Apache Indians, both local residents, entertained recently at a Civitan Club meeting.

The entertainers, called Chief Sundown and Princess Sunflower, lived more than 15 years on reservations. The princess lived on a reservation at San Carlos and Chief Sundown at White River, both in Arizona.
